1. Reading

This is a sample document. Turn pages with a horizontal swipe, by tapping the left or right edge of the screen, or with the arrow keys on a keyboard.

Tap the middle of the page to hide the bars and read in full screen. Tap again to bring them back.

Pinch with two fingers to zoom. The button at the top switches between fitting the whole page and fitting the width.

2. Marking text

Press and hold a word with your finger, then drag the handles to select a sentence. The iOS menu appears as usual, so Translate and Look Up still work.

At the same time the bottom bar changes to highlight colors, underline and bookmark. Try highlighting the phrase opportunity cost in this sentence.

Tap a highlight later to change its color or remove it. Everything you mark is listed in the notes panel.

3. Writing with Apple Pencil

Choose the pen, the marker or the eraser. Apple Pencil then writes or erases, while your finger keeps scrolling, swiping and selecting text.

On iPhone, or without a pencil, turn on finger drawing in the tool bar.

Use export to save a copy of the PDF with your highlights, underlines and handwriting written into it.
